CHRISTMAS JOY OFFERING, COLLECTED THIS SUNDAY

This Sunday, we'll be collecting a Christmas Joy Offering for our denomination. Please consider giving —offering envelopes are provided in the pew racks and on the entry room table (ark).

Your gifts to the Christmas Joy Offering combine with gifts from thousands of congregations throughout our denomination as necessary resources to help repair the world and to ensure our siblings have the tools they need to flourish.

CHRISTMAS PAGEANT, THIS SUNDAY

This Sunday, children will be featured in the worship service—playing instruments and putting on this year's Christmas Pageant called A Very Special Child, which is Luke's telling of the Christmas story, beginning with Zechariah and Elizabeth. Many thanks to our pageant director, Lindsey Austen!

MANY THANKS in advance to our youth musicians who will be sharing their musical talents during the service:

Sebastian Lehnbeuter, piano

2025 ADVENT THEME

This season, our worship has centered on the the idea that Joy is often a companion to many other emotions. We can feel joy in addition to feeling many other things at once: grief, anticipation, anxiety, excitement, disappointment, exhaustion.

Perhaps many of us live with the myth that joy is not something we deserve—or that it is wholly out of reach. But our joy is rooted in the truth that we belong to God. Can you tether yourself to that deep truth? You deserve to feel joy—fully. The world needs your joy, even if you are weary. Our joy is better when it is shared.

Our Themes

Nov. 30—We acknowledge our weariness

Dec. 7—We find joy in connection

Dec. 14—We allow ourselves to be amazed

Dec. 21—(Christmas Pageant, Telling the Story)

Dec. 24—We Make Room

“How does a weary world rejoice?” (adapted from a liturgy resource from www.asanctifiedart.org)

What is like to be on THE SESSION at PCL?

Cory Lehnbeuter

When Rev. Fowler approached me years ago about being on Session, I was a little surprised because I hadn't been coming to PCL that long. I was a little nervous because I wasn't sure what it was and it sounded intimidating. Yet here I am now required to take a mandatory break after voluntarily coming back multiple times, leading 4 different committees over the past 6 years. Turns out it wasn't so intimidating after all and I really enjoyed it!

I've built great friendships, found ways to use my skills and interests to help the church community thrive, and became inspired to dig deeper exploring my own personal relationship with God.

I realized 3 things during my tenure:

- 1) The Light and love of God shines brightest when believers take action and do something, not just contemplate it (any action, even if seemingly miniscule..think about it);
- 2) All of us rely on this building and community as vessels for our own refuge to help us keep going in life on a variety of levels as well as a tool to make a positive impact on our community and those less fortunate;
- 3) Number 2 doesn't just 'happen' or 'exist' to be used. It's all here for us week after week and even pastor after pastor because people are taking action to intentionally make it exist and using their time and talents to keep it alive.

I love this church family and the work we do in Jesus' name so it makes it an easy decision for me to get involved, even in smallest ways, starting with just being present to be part of it. I've realized this congregation isn't for us, it is us, so if not me, then who? If not us, then what? Jack Peters once told me "many hands make light work" and when everyone participates, I'm amazed how easy it is to get stuff done. Session has given me the opportunity to directly be part of and affect the action we take (Oelhaf House, Center for Food Action, Al Anon, blood drives, pop up food pantries, and supporting each other in times of need). I can see it and interact with that love and support that is provided here in so many ways, therefore I pledge because I want to see it continue and grow.

I hope my story helps others realize that involvement and presence isn't so hard, especially when we're all doing small pieces together. I took a leap toward faith with my involvement in Session and was able to accomplish and grow personally more than I thought. I just had to push aside my own made-up doubts and barriers and trust that God would help me find a way when I was completely unsure where to start. Sure enough, with the support and commitment that others in this congregation share, we're still here and still growing together.

But our joy is rooted in the truth that we belong to God. Can you tether yourself to that deep truth? You deserve to feel joy—fully. The world needs your joy, even if you are weary. Our joy is better when it is shared.

I hope you will join us for worship each week as we seek to answer the question: "How does a weary world rejoice?" (adapted from an Advent resource found at asanctifiedart.org)
