Congregational Meeting RECAP (PNC)

Last Sunday, May 31, we had a congregational meeting to nominate the members of the Pastor Nominating Committee (PNC). This committee will spend the next 12-18 months conducting a nationwide search for the next installed pastor at PCL.

Jonathan Phillips and David Voreacos are happy to report that our search for a permanent pastor is progressing. On May 31, the congregation elected nine members of the church to serve on the Pastor Nominating Committee.

They are: Ewan Maclean, Jonathan Phillips, Keyla Garcia, Mineko Hinton, Karen Peters, Eulalia Cabrera, Jeff Im, Vicky Li, and Betsy Voreacos.

This committee will ultimately select a candidate to present to the congregation, which will vote on calling our next full-time pastor. The process begins with the committee creating a Ministry Discernment Profile (MDP) based on the Mission Study Report that will be released to the congregation this month. Once the MDP is approved by the Presbytery's Commission on Ministry (COM), the committee will interview candidates for our full-time pastor. Since we are part of the PC(USA) this is a nationwide search. During this process, the PNC cannot discuss particulars of any candidates with the congregation. However, we encourage the congregation to pray regularly for the work of the PNC.

We would like to clarify a point from the congregational meeting on Sunday, based on consulting with Steve Huston of the Presbytery. He advises us that the only time a candidate would normally preach for the congregation is before the congregational meeting when the vote is taken. However, it is appropriate for our top two or three to preach for the PNC when they come for a visit. Often, this is done in a neutral pulpit so that a pastor's congregation doesn't find out they are looking for another job.

Finally, we welcome the Rev. Mike Eller to apply for the post and note that the Session happily gave him a one-year extension on his contract as our interim pastor.
